

IN THE YOUNG AND RISING GENERATION, the vegetative powers of life are strong; but, in a few years, how often the pallid face, the lack-lustre eye, and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It is soon become evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and, perhaps, the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to beautiful and rural excursions, thoughts are turned towards home; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

Also! Increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on—the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu
FOR WEAKNESS ARISING FROM EXCESS OR DISORDER.

Attended with the following symptoms:—Indisposition to exertion. Loss of Power. Loss of Memory. Difficulty of Breathing. General Weakness. Horror of Disease. Weak Nerves. Trembling. Horror of Death. Night Sweats. Cold Feet. Wakefulness. Dimness of Vision. Languor. Uniform Lassitude of the Muscular System. Loss of Normal Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms. Hot flushes. Flushing of the Body. Dryness of the Skin. Pains in the Neck. Heaviness of the Eyelids. Frequent Black Spots before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight. Want of Attention. Great Mobility. Restlessness with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves, no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatigue, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

Having the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson, at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred in two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy.

The records of the Insane Asylum, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appear. The countenance is actually sallow and quite desolate—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is faint and indistinct. These sufferings from a time left them, and both died of epilepsy.

THE GERMAN QUESTION.

ARMAMENTS CONTINUED TO THE VERY VERGE OF WAR—THE FIRST GENERAL ORDER TO THE AUSTRIAN ARMY—ITALY READY FOR A DASH—GARIBOLDI'S ACCEPTANCE OF A COMMAND—LORD CLARENDON'S EXPLANATION OF THE "COMMUNICATIONS" FOR A CONGRESS, ETC., ETC.

Our despatches from the Continent to the morning of the 18th of May inform us that the situation of affairs in Germany remained then without material change. The negotiations between Austria and Prussia are finally stated to have led to no result. The most important despatches which passed on the 17th and 18th of May, and which were published in our issue of the 19th, will be found in our issue of the 19th.

THE DEBATE.

PARIS, May 16.—The Moniteur of the evening publishes an article on the Austro-Prussian dispute and the demands of the German States. The article says:—

"Notwithstanding these armaments, the hopes for the preservation of peace are not entirely extinguished. France is directing her efforts, in concert with England and Russia, towards assembling a conference, to which the questions now threatening the peace of Europe would be referred. These efforts are the thorough sincerity of the Emperor's desire for peace. The Imperial Government is devoted to the preservation of peace, and it has reserved to prevent the outbreak of an armed conflict."

The Revue, speaking of the effort being made by diplomacy with a view to the preservation of peace, says:—

"But little reliance must be placed upon these efforts being successful, as their success has daily become more and more doubtful. The Emperor's armaments are seeking some mode of bringing about a reconciliation between the antagonistic powers, but are at a loss to find any truly practicable mode of doing so. The Emperor's armaments are seeking some mode of bringing about a reconciliation between the antagonistic powers, but are at a loss to find any truly practicable mode of doing so. The Emperor's armaments are seeking some mode of bringing about a reconciliation between the antagonistic powers, but are at a loss to find any truly practicable mode of doing so."

PARIS, May 16.—Arrangements are said to have been made for placing a corps of Hungarian volunteers at the disposal of the Austrian Government as soon as war shall be declared.

PARIS, May 16.—A newspaper of to-day publishes an article pointing out the serious nature of the differences between Austria, Prussia, and Italy.

The neutral powers could neither induce either of the different parties to concede the demands of the other, nor usefully recommend to them the maintenance of a peaceful attitude. It is now necessary to see some middle course which would admit of a settlement of conflicting pretensions. It is by compromise that the Emperor's armaments are seeking some mode of bringing about a reconciliation between the antagonistic powers, but are at a loss to find any truly practicable mode of doing so.

PARIS, May 17.—Evreux.—A rumor has been current in this town, to the effect that the Emperor's armaments are seeking some mode of bringing about a reconciliation between the antagonistic powers, but are at a loss to find any truly practicable mode of doing so.

PARIS, May 17.—The Independence Belge of the evening says:—

"We have received from London reports respecting the proposed Congress. Austria has been invited to attend, and it is believed that she will do so. The Emperor's armaments are seeking some mode of bringing about a reconciliation between the antagonistic powers, but are at a loss to find any truly practicable mode of doing so."

ally assumed by Austria, the Libera's ought to embrace the sole opportunity offered by the power that rests with Germany, and whose power is necessarily progressive, while the Prussian policy is as necessarily reactionary. It is the earnest desire of the Libera's to rally round the cause of Italy, which is identical with that of nationality and liberty. TAX ON ITALIAN BONDS.

The Chamber of Deputies at Florence, after a long debate and in spite of the opposition of the Minister of Finance, agreed to the proposition for a tax upon Italian bonds to be levied by the Minister of Finance thereupon tendered his resignation.

GARIBOLDI'S COMMAND.

The following is the letter which Garibaldi accepts the command of the volunteers:—

"I accept with true gratitude the disposition which you have taken and his Majesty has sanctioned relative to the command of the volunteers. I am glad to see you manifest in me giving me the command, and you will be proud enough to express to the King my sentiments. I hope soon to co-operate with you in a great and noble enterprise for the benefit of the country. I thank you for your courtesy in making this communication to me. Accept, etc."

THE CORRESPONDENT OF THE LONDON NEWS AT VIENNA says the general impression throughout Italy is that war has become absolutely necessary to the national existence. The alternative is foreign war or civil war.

LORD CLARENDON ON THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

In the English House of Lords on the 18th of May, Lord Stratford de Redcliffe hoped that in the present state of public opinion in England, the Government, before the House separated for the recess, would be able to give some information with respect to the prospects of peace or war on the Continent. The noble Lord was understood to express an opinion that Austria was in the legal possession of Venice, and the peace of Europe was of more importance than the unity of Italy. He said that he had seen any negotiations or preliminary communications official or confidential, were actually in progress on the part of her Majesty's Government, with a view to settling the difficulties which unhappily prevailed between several of the great powers of Europe, by means of a Congress, and if so, whether they should have any reasonable hope or prospect of an amicable issue.

The Earl of Clarendon said:—It is impossible to appreciate the gravity of the crisis, and I think that the Government have been perfectly justified in this question before the House separates. I can reply to his question that both official and confidential communications have been made, and that I can reply to his question that both official and confidential communications have been made, and that I can reply to his question that both official and confidential communications have been made.

THE LATEST NEWS.

LONDON, May 20.—Reports concerning the European Congress are conflicting. It is said that Austria had refused to attend. No report of negotiation has yet been addressed to the courts of Vienna, Prussia, and Florence.

Active preparations continue in Vienna. Twenty battalions of infantry have been ordered to be raised, and it is believed that more will be formed, in consequence of the large number of enlistments. The Emperor's armaments are seeking some mode of bringing about a reconciliation between the antagonistic powers, but are at a loss to find any truly practicable mode of doing so.

PARIS, May 20.—The Revue speaks of the effort being made by diplomacy with a view to the preservation of peace, and says:—
